LATTER-DAY ROMANS

The televised version of "The Godfather" drew the largest audience ratings on east and west coasts of any film shown on TV, so say the polls about the first segment seen last Saturday.

It shows the popular compulsion for the cinema insights into the Mafia organization, the order and violence, the most incompatible lifestyles co-existing in the home and "office".

I caught just a bit of the late segment of the Monday showing, just in time to see 11, count 'em,11 "smoked" in settlements of a dispute one instigator said was "just business."

The response: "Well, there's nothing we can do for you." Meaning, I suppose, "business" would be as usual in settling accounts.

Marlon Brando's performance was more a conversion of actor into Mafia Don. As the reviews said when the movie came out, "Marlon Brando is the Godfather."

It's a way of life for who knows how many thousand of people who in effect cater to the weaknesses of human nature and make billions tax free every year.

Beside "The Godfather," other books on these incredible people include "Honor Thy Father" and "The Vallachi Papers", the latter a summation of information given before congressional investigators a few years ago.

It is difficult for a provincial society to realize the impact of this racket-oriented sub-culture on all of us. But think upon only one statistic: If drugs were reduced to negligible traffic in this country, about 50 percent of crime would be eliminated. And it is likely the Mafioso controls about half of drug flow.

The movie dramatized what J. Edgar Hoover often was accused of imagining what was "too much underworld" after the days of Capone and latter-day "torpedoes."

If do-gooders want to improve things, they might concentrate on ways to curb the growth of what "The Godfather" is about, the unrelenting metropolitan appeal to weakness in civilized man. In a sense and lineage, these are latter-day Romans.

115-115-115

It is coincidental, but a roommate at college was a Boston Italian, who was bright, nonviolent, and who later married a girl from Denton, Texas. But he gave insights into the motivations of people like those portrayed in "The Godfather."

I'll bet Winston Churchill was a bother too!

SH 36 Due Improvements

The city council voted Tuesday evening to participate with the Texas Highway Department in improvements to Highway 36 from the railroad underpass to the city limits. Work on the project is expected to start in the spring.

The improvements will include curbs and gutters and driveways in the area, which is mostly a business section.

Delton Kittrell of the Texas Highway Department met with council and explained that the highway will get a new base and surface from the underpass to the intersection of SH 36 and 77. He said drainage improvements are also needed in the area but council agreed to work on that later when funds are available.

The highway department will prepare cost estimates for the city work for presentation at the next council meeting.

In other business, council:

--Approved a proclamation designating Nov. 18-25 as Yoeman Week, and gave permission to the Yoe High student council to hang strip banners downtown boosting the Yoemen for the bi-district game.

--Authorized the fire department to pay membership dues in the State Fire Marshal Association at a cost of $115.

--Received an invitation to attend the Central Texas Police Officers Association barbecue at the KC Hall Thursday evening.

--Heard Works Supt. Bill Dase report on proposed paving of Third St., which is presenting drainage problems. He also said base work would start Thursday on North Houston St.

--Authorized Dase to take bids on selling an old tractor and ask for bids on a heater for the maintenance barn.

--Authorized "Green Thumb" workers to do paitning and repairs to the city park pavilion, tearing out the old restrooms. The city will pay for materials estimated at $400.

--Approved installing a street

--Approved installing a street light at Reenie Drive and Wallace Blvd.

--Authorized the city to enter a contract with engineers for drainage and paving survey work and plans at a cost of $7800.

--Accepted the resignation of Miss Mildred Thornton from the city zoning commission.

--Rjected two bids on a new police car and will advertise for new bids.

--Discussed fencing of the city maintenance barn yard which would eliminate dumping of garbage and trash by residents on weekends. Dase said he could have a man on duty Saturday but not on Sunday.

Mayor Gene Blake appointed a committee of Ernest Moore and Gene Lumpkin to act as liasion between residents wanting their streets paved and the council. Lumpkin pointed out that many residents are not fully informed on what is required for getting streets paved.

GREEN THUMB--Workers in the new "Green Thumb" organization at work on the vacant lot where the Bull Durham bull looks on. The men, who work three days a week at $2 an hour, are part of a new organization to help low-income older people find work at landscaping, carpentering, and painting for non-profit organizations. They have also been working at the new jail site, leveling fill soil.

Bond Set For Rape Suspects

Bond was set at $7,500 each by Justice of the Peace Jess Brock after two men were charged with statutory rape Friday. One is out on bond and the other remains in county jail.

The men were identified by Sheriff Carl Black as Andrew Aguilar, 18, of Rockdale and Henry Zamora, 22, also of Rockdale. Aguilar made bond, the sheriff said.

The incident involved one 14-year-old girl and a 13-year-old girl, both from Rockdale.

Band Wins First In Marching Contest

The Yoe High Band, under the direction of Jerry Bartley, won a first place in the UIL marching contest held at Waco Tuesday. This was the first time in the history of the band that it has won a first in marching.

Of the 12 bands competing in Class AA, five of them received a first rating and only three of those received a first from all three judges --Cameron, West and Hillsboro.

Comments from the judges included "good percussion section, drum majors work well together, band has excellent stride and plays well." Another judge said "it is evident the band has a lot of spirit and pride."

Bartley said he is "proud of the progress the band has made since I came here in August. I am especially proud of the support parents and townspeople have shown the band as it performs at Friday game halftimes."

Band twirlers also received honors in a UIL twirling contest held at Waco Saturday. Nine girls went and came back with three first places, four second places and two third places.

Medal winners included Cindy Crouch, Janet Fuchs and Anna Marie Marek. The nine girls will be competing for five new twirler openings for next years band in May.

UT Regents Name Bergeron To Advisory Board

Fred P. Bergeron, Aluminum Company of America's Texas area manager, has been appointed to the University of Texas at Austin college of engineering advisory board by the school's board of regents.

Bergeron, a 1951 electrical engineering graduate of the University of Texas, is directly in charge of the company's Rockdale and Anderson County Works in Central and East Texas, respectively. He heads up Alcoa's statewide public affairs program.

The UT college of engineering's advisory council, composed of 25 educators and business leaders, governs the school's engineering foundation, which depends on corporate contributions, gifts from alumni, endowments and bequests for financial support.

"These contributions enable the university to finance numerous programs beyond the level provided by regular state funding," said Dr. Earnest F. Gloyna, dean of the college of engineering.

Essentially, the council brings its own expertise and experience to the planning of college programs and acts in a major advisory capacity to the college of engineering.

The Alcoa Foundation annually gives about $90,000 to Texas colleges and universities, including $20,000 each for Alcoa Professorship programs at UT and Texas A&M University.

Harden In Hospital

The condition of County Judge O. B. Harden, who suffered a heart attack early Sunday morning, is described as satisfactory. He is a patient at St. Edward Hospital. It is expected that he will be out of his office for a period of several weeks. A substitute county judge will be appointed shortly to take over Harden's duties.

Collision Damages Cars

A two-car accident at the intersection of Sixth and Travis Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. resulted in heavy damage to both vehicles but no injuries to drivers.

Janice Meissner was traveling south on Travis and Juan P. Banda east on 6th when the collision occurred. Police Sgt. Kent Butler was investigating officer.

Classes To Dismiss Early

Classes will dismiss in the Cameron schools at 2:45 p.m. Friday so the buses can make their runs and be back in time for the trip to Killeen for the bi-district game.

Firemen Answer Call

Volunteer firemen were called to a fire at the Hubert Henderson home at 1204 West 10th Saturday night. The home burned down but no injuries were reported.

Wells, Leases Sold To Mercury

By Lloyd Albertson

Longtime owners and operators of Mack's Production Company, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCullin, announced on Monday that they have sold all of their holdings, including oil leases, some 20 shallow oilwells, and equipment in the Rice School community and the Griffin Chapel area to Mercury Chemical Company of Houston.

The company is a newcomer to Milam County, McCullin said, and is interested in the possibilities of shallow oil production in the area, and already has acquired about 80 wells in the county.

In the Griffin Chapel area these include, in addition to the wells purchased from McCullin, a number of wells located on the Dr. E. H. O'Neal land that were brought in by the Houston-Oklahoma Oil Company and later owned by H. L. Sheppard of Rockdale, and also wells on adjoining leases there. The T. Y. McCormick lease and producers also have been acquired by the company.

Mercury Chemical's president, A. O. Lang, Jr., advised him, McCullin said, that they hoped to further increase their holdings in the county.

Lang also stated that the company is completing plans to work over the old wells they have acquired, clean them out, and get them back in the best possible production.

As part of the restoration process they intend to use chemicals they have developed. They reportedly have been experimenting with chemicals on several of the old wells and have found they have improved the oil flow considerably.

Lang also said that the company has plans to use computers to help increase the wells production but gave no details.

Many of the old stripper wells in the county, which produce from one-half to one or two barrels a day, were not considered economical to pump, but now with crude upped in price $10 or more a barrel, they are being reconsidered, and Mercury Chemical Company undoubtedly has reason to believe they can again be profitable.

McCullin said that the only oil properties they now own are five shallow wells in the Minerva sand on the G. C. Lucas farm in the old Minerva Field and one well in Burleson County. These wells will continue to be operated under the name of Mack's Production Company.

"When you once get your fingers in oil," he commented, "it is hard to let go. There is a fascination about the business."

McCullin's interest in oil dates back to 1929 when he was employed as a chemist by the Owens Refining Company during the heyday of the old Minerva Field. When Owens Refining got into financial difficulties during the depression, he started his own business as an oil distributer in Milam and nearby counties, and later for a number of years engaged in oil drilling.

He was successful in bringing in a number of shallow wells in the county. He also was one of the two major buyers of crude here in the county, with transport trucks delivering it to a refinery in Houston. He has, in short, seen the oil game in Milam County from all its angles.

Cameron No 1 On United Fund List

Cameron is still No. 1 on the list of cities reaching United Fund goals and surpassing 100 percent, according to the United Campaign Reporter, a leaflet published by Texas United Community Services.

Cameron reached 160.9 percent of its $10,000 goal by raising over $16,000 in cash and pledges in its recent campaign. Closest competitor is Port Neches with 135.6 percent.

TALKING SHOP--Fred P. Bergeron, second from left, Aluminum Company of America's Texas area manager, visits with two University of Texas at Austin Alcoa professors at a dinner for them and engineering department heads. Bergeron presented a $20,000 Alcoa Foundation check to UT engineering dean Earnest F. Gloyna, center, to finance the first year of mechanical engineering's Dr. Grady Rylander, right, and an additional year of the professorship of electrical engineering's Dr. Herbert Woodson, left. Also pictured are Point Comfort Operations manager Ron Kuerner, second from right, and Rockdale plant manager Duncan McGregor, third from right.

However Far That May Be...

Cameron naturally can be proud of the grid Yoemen who meet Burnet in bi-district Friday night.

And we want to mention the development of the Yoe High School band, particularly the last Friday night performance. It was precise and musically strong. And it lends credit not only to a fine football season, but to skill of the bandsmen and leadership and Cameron itself.

The Yoemen are entering post-season competition for the first time in about seven years. And this may be the strongest Yoe defensive team in the town's football history, not to mention the strength of the Yoe running game.

These school factors may just make this a long post-season schedule for the Yoemen, and this football-mad town won't have to look far to find the enthusiasm to follow the Yoemen all the way, however far that may be.

The town really has something to support. Coach Cauley and his gridders, with an assist from Elgin, may just be on the way to the best double A season Cameron ever had.

Results, Not Promises...

The UN Assembly has seen Fidel Castro in his field jacket and Nikita Khruschev pounding his shoe on a desk, but it is a first to see a national leader there toting a loaded pistol.

We speak of Yasser Arafat, the Palestinian guerrilla leader, who the other day addressed the General Assembly with a handweapon in his coat. A guard said the gun was loaded.

Arafat comes to the West with a record of bloodshed that would make a "Godfather" nod in power-play approval. He speaks of allowing Palestinian views be amalgamated in the Mideast, turning away from Israel.

His commandoes are the ones who hit the airports the past few years, "hits" designed to dramatize the Palestinian position.

Arafat may find these technics good "attention getters", but no way to influence world affairs in lasting measure. Fidel Castro succeeded in revoltuion, but Cuba in redistribution is little better off than 15 years ago.

Measure of a man or a country is not the promise but the results he delivers.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

$2 MILLION HIKE CALLED 'MODEST'

S.4102. A bill to amend title 44, United States Code to redesignate the National Historical Publications Commission as the National Historical Publications and Records Commission to increase the membership of such Commission and to increase the authorization of appropriations for such Commission and to increase the authorization of appropriations for such Commission. Referred to the Committee on Government Operations. (Excerpt from bill S.4102.--(2) striking out $2,000,000 and inserting in lieu thereof $4,000,000).

Senator C. Pell (R.I.)" . . .I am introducing today with Senator Brooke (Mass.) legislation to enable us better to care for, preserve and maintain our Nation's historical documents and records. . .I am also pleased that Senators Muskie (Me.) Brock (Tenn.), and Allen (Ala.) are joining as co-sponsors of the bill. . .

"There is a vast amount of significant documentation in records of States, counties, towns, and other governmental units throughout the land.

"Among the valuable files are those of State and local courts. Unfortunately, a great number of thse records are neglected, so neglected in fact that many are being lost and others are in serious jeopardy. . .

"In addition to official records at various levels there are thousands of manuscripts cared for by hundreds of private historical societies throughout the Nation. These manuscripts represent the personal papers of scores of leaders and representative citizens; the records of churches, businesses, and organizations; diairies, journals, logbooks, and many other private records that allow us to draw close to the experience of Americans of earlier days.

"In my mudgment, it is time for the Federal Government to give concrete, if 'modest' aid and support to the States and other units of government, as well as to responsible groups in the private sector, in the identification and preservation of important documents..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Every bill calling for increased spending has some merit. Historical records should be preserved. But local pride should play a part in preserving valuable records. Washington, D. C., is a long way from "crossroads" America. It will take the entire yearly Federal income tax of 1,300 American families to pay for the "modest" increase in the bill's appropriation. The bill will add additional employees to the Federal payroll and increase Federal spending. It's obvious that some congressmen continue to talk "nay" but vote Yea."

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

As I understand it, the Arab countries, recognizing a good thing when they see it, are really piling up the money with their high-priced oil sales.

In fact, they're building up so much cash-on-hand, billions and billions of it, that they're having trouble figuring out what to invest it in, since they apparently have no interest in helping some of their own people wandering around the desert with a handful of sheep.

Anyway, according to an article I read yesterday they're studying the problem, if you want to call wondering where to invest a gob of money a problem, and it's reported they're interested in buying up foreign businesses, maybe a bank here and there, a few auto plants, Sears & Roebuck, things like that.

They haven't asked me for it but I have a suggestion for them. They ought to be looking further down the road. There's going to come a time when they'll be out of the saddle. Their oil will play out or the United States or some of the other oil-short countries will figure out a way to get along without Arab oil, by developing new sources of energy or learning how to use more coal or by drilling for oil all over the ocean, across Alaska and if necessary in the heart of downtown Temple.

So what the Arab countries ought to be doing, against the day when the hayride is over, is cutting down on their long cars and private airplanes and putting their money in savings and loans.

In the meantime, the oil-short countries are supposed to conserve all the energy and other natural resources they can, and as soon as football season is over they plan to.

I intend to do my part and am considering giving up toothpicks to save wood.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

State Surplus To Permit New Spending

The whopping state surplus expected to be available to the legislature will permit $500 million in new spending without generating tax bills for another eight years.

This was the good news handed a House revenue and taxation sub-committee last week.

However, Texas Research League added the warning that spending all the billion dollar surplus in sight would make a $1.43 billion tax bill necessary in 1977.

Legislative Budget Board has told lawmakers present spending levels, plus mandatory increases for state employee salaries and emergency school aid, will "leave over" $1.502 billion at the end of fiscal 1977.

A TRL projection handed the legislative sub-committee discussed creation of a tax stabilization fund as one alternative for dealing with the unprecedented surplus.

Creation of the fund would make it possible to avoid new state taxes for at least eight years and still permit new program spending of $250 million a year increasing to $500 million a year by the 1982-1983 biennium, TRL calculated.

However, TRL conceded:

"It may be unrealistic to suggest that the next three sessions of the Texas legislature might be willing to hold in trust such a large surplus solely for the purpose of avoiding tax increases in future years. There is no historic precedent for such restraint."

SCHOOL AID ALTERED — An attorney general's opinion, hailed as one of the most significant in recent months, signaled a new approach to state formulas for finance aid to schools.

Atty. Gen. John Hill held the Commissioner of Education should require county tax assessors to report the percentage of market value used in determining assessed property value.

And he said the commissioner should use that data in "computing the county economic index to achieve uniformity of property values of each county as compared with every other county."

Education Commissioner Dr. M. L. Brockett last week wrote all county tax officials requesting the data, and said it will be used for computing the 1975-76 economic index to be considered by the State Board of Education next March.

NEWSMEN OUT — Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, expected to be named speaker next January, said consideration is being given to barring news reporters and other non-legislators from the House of Representatives floor.

No firm decision has been made, however, Clayton stated.

Meanwhile, the House administration committee named a three-man sub-committee to consider what facilities may be made available for reporters covering the legislature if they are banned from the floor during legislative debate.

Clayton said he considered the move only in the interest of promoting "decorum" in the legislative process. He said onlookers at the capitol are dismayed by what they see on the House floor, and anything that helps restore order may be a public service.

COURTS SPEAK — Failure to buckle a seat belt is no legal cause to cut down compensation to accident victims, the State Supreme Court held.

In another case, the High Court directed a fullscale trial of a lawsuit by the widow of a crane operator against an oil company in a controversy over safe working conditions.

A retrial was ordered for a $250,000 alienation of affections suit filed by a Brazoria County man against a chiropractor.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held that a person's presence in a house where LSD is discovered is not enough grounds for conviction of possessing the drug.

The same court concluded that former House Speaker Gus Mutscher and associates convicted of conspiracy to accept bribes must start serving five-year probationary sentences, although they have taken further steps to appeal.

AG OPINIONS—A police officer may not break into a dwelling to execute a court seizure writ on personal property, Atty. Gen. Hill held.

Efficient Pork Producers

Hogs are one of the most efficient users of grain and feed in the livestock industry. The average hog today gains one pound of weight for every 3.6 pounds of feed eaten. Further improvements in breeding are expected to bring the future average rate to one pound of gain for every 2.7 pounds of feed. Some observers predict that some day hogs will gain one pound of weight for every 2.25 pounds of feed eaten.

Handy Hogs

Hogs have other uses in addition to providing pork and processed by-products. In England, hogs have been used to replace dogs in pointing game and, in France, hogs are used to hunt for truffles.

Pork Not "Fat Food"

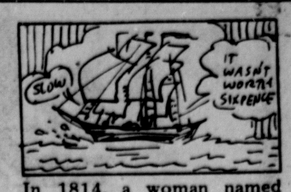
Pork is no longer a "fat food," forbidden to those on diets to reduce. Two leading dieters' groups, Weight Watchers, International and Diet Workshop, now include pork in their approved menus. Today's pork has less fat, fewer calories and more protein, making it an acceptable food for those trying to lose weight through a practical diet.

Pork Provides Protein

If you're out of sorts and out of shape, it could be the result of a poor diet. Nutrition authorities recommend two or more servings of meat a day to fill protein needs for good health, vitality and attractive face and figure. Protein, along with minerals and vitamins, is needed not only for growth, but to build, maintain and repair body tissue, and to help fight infection and disease as well. Pork is an excellent source of this important body-building protein.

Sesame Stuffed Pork Chops

Make a pocket in each of 6 pork rib chops (cut 1¼ to 1½ inches thick) by cutting into chop along the bone, parallel to surface of chop. Slowly cook ½ cup chopped celery and 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine for 5 minutes in large frying-pan. Add 2 cups toasted bread cubes, ¼ cup toasted sesame seed, 1 teaspoon sage, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Lightly stir in 1 egg beaten with ⅓ cup water. Fill pockets in chops with stuffing; lightly brown on both sides in 2 tablespoons lard or drippings; season with 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper and place in 13 x 9-inch baking dish or pan. Cover securely with foil and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 30 minutes longer or until done. 6 servings.



In 1814, a woman named Bessie Millie sold favorable winds to mariners for the small sum of sixpence.

Cattle Subject To Prussic Acid

By Bill McCutchen

Animals that graze on pasture or forage that has recently been hit by a frost are subject to prussic acid poisoning.

Among grasses that are especially toxic to animals after a frost are Johnsongrass, Sudan, and other soghum hybrids.

Prussic acid poisoning is a disease which prevents oxygen in the blood from reaching the tissues that thus causes death due to suffocation.

Symptoms of the disease are suffocation and muscular twitching, and the animal may have his head turned toward his flank. The blood of the animal has a bright red color. Animals usually become affected within 10 to 15 minutes after eating toxic material and rarely survive more than one or two hours.

Livestock should not be allowed access to wilted material after a frost until it has dried completely. Grazing should also be prevented after a rain when new sprouts begin to form on plants.

Wilted material will usually dry out in a day or two of strong sunlight. New growth usually becomes nontoxic within a week to 10 days after a rain and can then be grazed safely by livestock.

If you're not sure about your pasture, have a veterinarian check it with a picrate test or have a sample checked in a lab.

One way to check a pasture is to turn out a less valuable animal that has been without grass or hay for 24 hours. A hungry animal will fill up faster and show toxic symptoms if the plant material is dangerous.

If you think your animal shows signs of prussic acid poisoning, don't hesitate to call a vet immedictely.

Features Of Farm Lease Outlined

A good, well-thought-out written agreement when leasing a farm can often eliminate problems and disagreements between landlords and tenants, believes Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A lease should be tailored to fit the farm, the landlord and the tenant," points out the economist with the Texas A&M University System.

Hayenga says the lease should cover such areas as property rights, land use, and livestock production and restrictions, and should have provisions for conserving and maintaining farm resources, sharing of costs and returns, and length of the agreement.

"The agreement should clearly state the rights, duties, and responsibilites of each party and should provide for change and adaptability."

The goal of the agreement should be to provide reasonable returns to both landlord and tenant for the resources provided.

"A good lease provides for the development, improvement, and maintenance of the land, buildings, fences, and other improvements," notes Hayenga. "It should assure the tenant a reasonable reimbursement for the investments he leaves in the farm when his period of occupancy ends."

Hayenga contends that rental agreement should have a provision for equitable sharing. "This does not always mean equal sharing. The landlord and the tenant should receive an income from the farm in proportion to the amount of total operating expenses each pays."

The economist favors a whole farm income sharing plan rather than one for each crop or livestock enterprise.

Farm Group Draws Up Statement

Fifteen farmers and ranchers from across Texas met in Waco last week to draft the 1975 policy statement of the Texas Farmers Union.

The members of the policy committee wrote the draft of the general farm organization's guiding document by incorporating recommendations and resolutions submitted by the county Farmers Union locals.

The delegates to the Texas Farmers Union annual convention in Houston, December 13-14 will debate the proposed statement and the final version.

Deadline Told For Plow-Up

AUSTIN

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reminded Milam County cotton farmers that midnight Nov. 30 is the deadline for plow-up and stalk destruction.

"Good weather enabled farmers to get an early start this year, and harvest for the county is 98 percent complete," White said.

Insufficient moisture early in the growing season coupled with too much rain around harvest has decreased cotton production for the Blacklands by 207,000 bales from 1973 yields. According to the Nov. crop report, cotton production for the region is estimated at 220,000 bales.

White reported that many farmers in the Northern Blacklands are given up on this year's crop. Wet conditions, which have aggravated insect problems, low prices, lower grades, and lower yield prospects are reasons cited by some farmers for plowing under their crops.

Production for the state is estimated at 2.8 million bales -- a 40% decrease from the 4.7 million bales of 1973.

Spot market prices are continuing to decline across the state, reflecting a weaker demand for cotton. The base prices for Strict Low Middling 1 1/16 inch cotton averaged 44.6 cens per pound in Oct., down 31 percent from a year ago.

4-H News

Bill McCutchen, County Extension Agent, will accompany the Texas 4-H Delegation to the 53rd National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Forty of the states' top 4-H members will be in the delegation of more than 16000 4-H youths from all 50 states, Puerto Rico, and Canada.

Bill will leave with the Texas Delegation from Dallas on November 30th and return on December 6th.

Fly Production Decreasing... Grasses Get Attention... More Red Meat... Weather Slows Harvest

STERILE SCREWWORM fly production at Mission is being cut back at the same time that cooler weather is expected to help ranchers combat the pest. And they need that help. The USDA Mission laboratory reported 2,418 screwworm cases in the State during October, compared to 2,254 in October, 1973. Almost half of those found in October this year were in 31 South Texas counties, and those may be among the last counties in the State getting enough cool weather to slow down screwworms. Production of the sterile screwworm flies is being cut from 200 million a week to 75 million, and they will be distributed in the lower southwest, areas considered vital to holding screwworms from making a big comeback. Over 280 people working at the Mission plant are being furloughed. The United States and Mexico are conducting an effort to eradicate screwworms from Mexico, but until they are, the pests will continue to threaten Texas livestock, and the sterile flies will be needed to combat any new outbreak.

FORAGE CROPS (grasses) are probably the most important crops produced in the United States, and one that probably receives less attention. Even when cattle were being fed tons of grains (that was before the higher prices curtailed grain feeding), grasses were important in the livestock business and always have been. A recent issue of "Crops and Soils Magazine" say, that even at the peak period of grain feeding, forages were still 75 per cent of the diets of beef cattle, 65 per cent of the diet of dairy cattle and 90 per cent of the diet of sheep. Livestock can fatten on grasses, and more grass-fed calves and cattle are being marketed now than only a few months ago. It is true that cattle grow less rapidly on forage crops than they do on high-protein grain, but until grain becomes more plentiful and less expensive, there probably will be more marketings of grass-fed cattle. Agronomist Harlow J. Hodgson of the USDA's Cooperative State Research Service says that more beef and dairy products can be produced at reasonable prices with "a much greater reliance on forages." It may take some "re-thinking."

TEXAS CROP and Livestock Reporting Service reports that Texans sent 374,000 head of cattle to slaughter during September, an increase of 40 per cent from a year ago and nine per cent more than for August 1974. Hogs slaughtered in September in Texas totaled 109,000, a two per cent increase over the same month last year and a one per cent decrease from the previous month. Sheep and lambs killed in September, 1974 totaled 127,000, a two per cent decline from the same month last year and a five per cent decline from August, 1974. Total red meat production through the first nine months in Texas was 1,763 million pounds, an increase of eight per cent over the same period in 1973. And it is likely that more of that red meat was produced on forage crops than in 1973.

COOL, WET weather on the High Plains continues to slow cotton maturity. In fact, during the first week of November, there was not much cotton harvested anywhere in Texas because of rains. However, cotton harvest is about 30 per cent complete in the State which is about on a par with last year. About 77 per cent of the corn and 62 per cent of the sorghums have been harvested, but the harvest was stopped almost all over the Low and High Plains because of the weather. Soybean harvest is reported about 37 per cent complete, peanut harvest about 59 per cent, second crop rice about 74 per cent, and over 90 per cent of wheat and oat seeding is complete.

Feedlot Odor Control Hinges On Measurement

"The success of future livestock and poultry feeding operations may depend on their ability to control odors economically," says Dr. John Sweeten with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "And the key to controlling odors hinges on the ability to measure them."

Reasearchers investigating odor control methods must first have agood method of measuring odors, contends the agricultural engineer specializing in livestock waste management. And, the legal process of regulating odors in Texas could also be simplified.

"Presently, odor nuisance complaints and litigation are based on emotional judgements and monetary damage claims rather than on scientific evidence that odors are intolerable," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "By contrast, a reliable method of odor measurement would enable air pollution control agencies to establish odor criteria. Such an odor intensity standard could benefit both livestock feeders and the public by possibly eliminating the expense of odor nuisance suits."

Through odor measurement, the actual need for an odor control program could be determined, says Sweeten.

Another application of odor measurement would be to help determine how far new feedlots should be located outside of populated areas.

"We need to be able to predict odor intensities downwind from a feedlot under various design and operating conditions," points out the engineer.

He lists several ways of measuring odors.

One way is to measure the amount of "clean" air it takes to dilute odorous air so that odors can barely be detected. A portable air dilution device called a scentometer is helpful in enabling engineers to pinpoint the main source of feedlot odors.

Another approach is to measure concentrations of some of the 45 different odorous gases emitted from livestock manure. However, odorant concentrations do not necessarily reflect odor intensity as detected by the human nose.

"Control of odors from feedlots can only come about through increased research on odor measurement systems and odor abatement programs," contends Sweeten.

Screen Mutes Window View

An attractive privacy screen built of stock sizes of western wood can be the answer to an unsightly view out a window or to block the exposure from sidewalk or street.

A simple screen has 2x4-inch verticals attached to soffits under the eaves. The lower portion in contact with or set into the ground is preservative treated.

Spaced 2x2s are nailed to horizontal braces set between the uprights. To add a pattern, spacers can be nailed between the 2x2s.

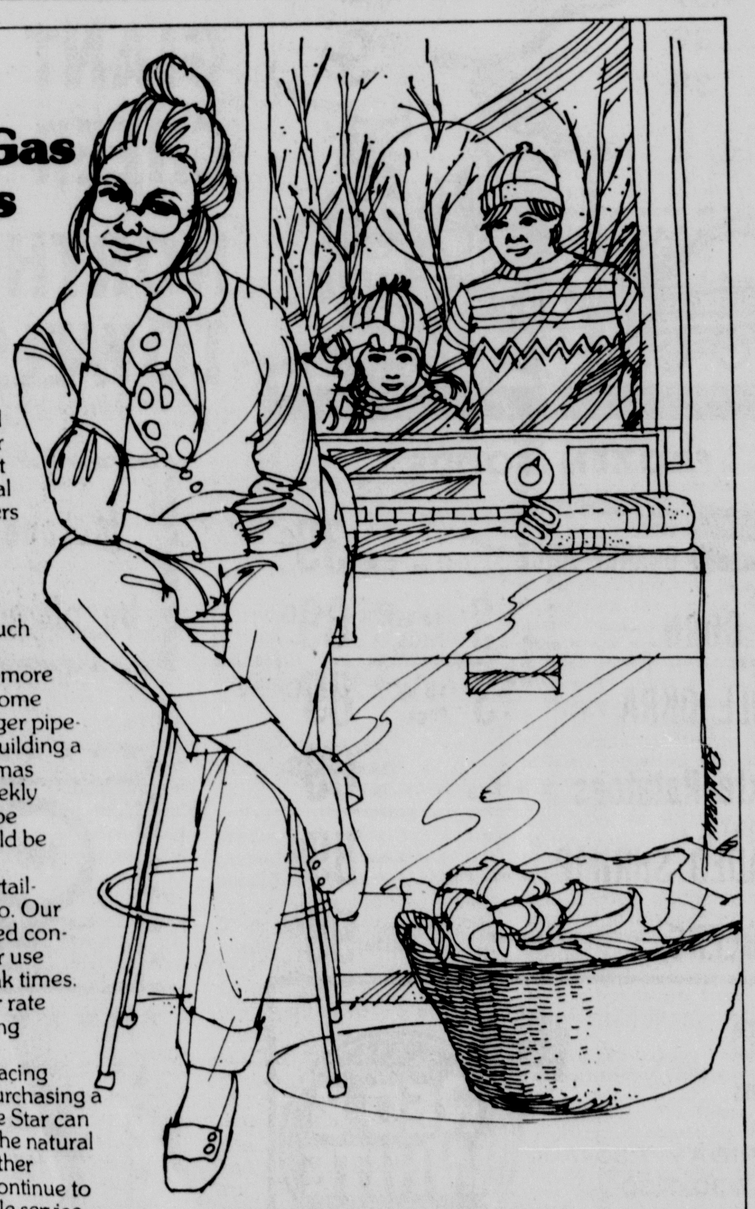
Are Natural Gas Curtailments Going To Affect Me?



During cold days in the winter, when the demand for natural gas is really high, some industrial users are asked to cut back their consumption of natural gas. But we want to assure our residential and other high priority customers that it's highly unlikely their natural gas service will be interrupted.

The pipelines used to deliver natural gas can only hold so much gas. And during extremely cold winter days, there's sometimes more demand than we can supply. Some people ask, "Why not build bigger pipelines?" But that would be like building a church for the Easter or Christmas attendance, rather than the weekly congregation. The cost would be tremendous and gas rates would be much higher.

Instead we developed a "curtailment" program many years ago. Our industrial customers have signed contracts agreeing to "curtail" their use of natural gas during these peak times. And in return, they pay a lesser rate reflecting the probability of being interrupted.

If you were considering replacing an existing gas appliance or purchasing a new one, be assured that Lone Star can provide the energy. We have the natural gas, and our residential and other high priority customers may continue to rely on Lone Star's dependable service now as in the past.

Energy Management Is A Family Affair

"What is TP&L doing to prevent an electric power shortage here?"

Providing adequate and dependable electric service to approximately two million people is a primary responsibility of Texas Power & Light Company.

Today, TP&L is meeting this responsibility despite shortages and rising costs of generating plant fuels and unprecedented high costs of building and operating the facilities necessary to produce and deliver electric power.

To prevent an electric power shortage in the future, TP&L has a number of major actions in progress . . .

. . . participating in exploration and drilling for natural gas and developing storage reservoirs to assure fuel supplies for existing generating plants.

. . . filling storage tanks at gene ting plants with more than 80 million gallons of uel oil for use when gas supplies are curtailed.

. . . constructing seven new generating units and planning others which will utilize readily available lignite coal as fuel.

. . . planning, with Dallas Power & Light and Texas Electric Service, construction of a nuclear-fueled generating plant, the first unit of which is expected to be in operation by 1980.

. . . planning to spend more than $250,000,000 in 1975 for construction of new plants and other facilities.

Dependable electric service has been the primary goal of TP&L for more than 62 years. It will continue to be our primary goal in the years ahead.

Move In Texas To Stop ERA

According to a number of Texas Legislators, there is a move in Texas to attempt to make void the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

The Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the leaders in the state in getting the Equal Rights Amendment ratified in the Texas Legislature, is spearheading the fight against such a move.

"The people of Texas voted 4 to 1 for our own Texas Equal Legal Rights referendum," Mrs. Chloe Monroe, President of the Texas Federation of B&PW, said in a talk this week. "The Texas Federation has been working on that since 1959 and we feel that the men and women who represent the citizens of our state in Austin will take this into consideration. The American Bar Association and many other organizations have committed themselves to the ratification of ERA."

"Equal Legal Rights are applicable tc both men and women," Mrs. Monroe continued, "and our National Federation has been in the forefront in working on the constitutional amendment in Washington since 1923."

All over the state of Texas, B&PW members are writing to their legislators and signing petitions standing behind their committment to Equal Legal Rights. "We feel that any informed person will be for this legislation. It is only those who are uninformed who find the Legilation unacceptable." Mrs. Monroe concluded.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Austin High School, attended Central Texas College of Killeen and is a September graduate of Nixon-Clay College. Her fiance is a graduate of Yoe High School. He attended Central Texas College and is completing requirements for a bachelor of Science Degree at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, Texas.

Selecting Thread For Today's Fashions

With so many types of thread on the market, today's homesewer may be confused about which thread to use.

A few guidelines will simplify thread selection and make sewing more satisfying, Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, suggested this week.

"Making sure thread and fabric are compatible is the first consideration. Mercerized cotton thread is appropriate for any basting or for sewing woven fabrics of natural fibers--cotton, wool, or linen. This thread has excellent sewing qualities and is heat resistant," she said.

All-purpose polyester, cotton covered polyester, or silk thread gives strength and elasticity when used with permanent press fabrics, knits, woven synthetics, or synthetic blends, she continued.

"Cotton covered polyester--a dual thread--combines the stretch and strength of the all-polyester core with the sewability and heat resistance of the cotton covering."

The specialist advised extra fine thread for today's very lightweight fabrics. She noted that for heavy fabrics, extra strong or heavy-duty thread is available. The label on spools gives manufacturer's suggestions for use, she added.

"Buttonhole twist, heavy silk or polyester thread is designed especially for top stitching, buttonholes, thread loops, and sewing on buttons.

Seniors To Compete For Scholarships

The 21st annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living, a $111,000 college scholarship program sponsored by General Mills, gets underway Tuesday (Dec. 3). High school seniors here and throughout the country will join in a written knowledge and attitude examination which will determine individual college scholarships awards of $500 to $5,000.

Participating seniors will compete in a 50 minute examination prepared and graded by Science Research Associates, Chicago, who are also responsible for all judging and selection of winners. The local winner will receive a specialy designed award from General Mills and will, together with other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

Heart Fund Open For Memorials

Memorials may be made to the American Heart Association through its local chairman, Mrs. Betty Humble, the Association has announced.

The memorials may be sent to Mrs. Humble at 902 E. 7 Street. A card will be sent to the family of the person the contribution is in memory of, and a receipt is sent to the contributor.

This month, a contribution in memory of Mr. Joseph L. Hayman was sent by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Butler.

Mann Joins Welfare Staff Here

Bulldog Lineup Has 11 Seasoned Players

The Burnet Bulldogs of District 24-AA will be playing with 11 seasoned players. They have returned 6 offensive and defensive starters from their 7-3 record of last season when they fell short of the district title by 4 points.

The Bulldogs will be starting 9 seniors and two juniors in the Friday night contest. Their offensive line averages in over 171 pounds with their backfield averaging in over 161.

Their main defensive alignment is the 6-2 where they will slant and have quickness in getting off the line. They will shift to a 6-5 goal line defense. In the offensive set the Bulldogs will use their power plays to gain most of their yardage.

Their list of talent is long but is headed by one of the finest fullbacks in the state. Ben Shipley is a hard hitting and extremely fast 198 pound senior. The majority of the scoring comes from their running game but when in need Ray Roberts the senior quarterback will go to the air. His favorite receiver is #89 Arlan Montgomery who is a 178 pound senior. Montgomery has great mobility in running his patterns and once he has the ball he can run. When the receivers are well covered Roberts' likes to tuck the ball and run.

The Burnet Bulldogs whipped Llano last week to secure their district title. Llano was favored in the district early, but outscored them last Friday 49-14. The Bulldogs have scored 308 points to their opponents 66. The Yoemen have scored 255 to their opponents 24.

Sports Spotlight

By Forrest Guess

The impossible happened when the underdogs of Elgin were able to beat the Caldwell Hornets. Some people say that the win by Elgin restored their faith in "Justice will prevail". Whatever it was it sure made a lot of Yoe fans happy.

The night for head coach Ed Cauley was most exciting and his friends around the area called through the night wishing the team the best of luck in their bid for the state championship.

Teams around the area and district also have called and wished the Yoemen luck in the game against the Bulldogs of Burnet. The Yoemen will now be playing for the whole district not only for themselves. All the teams in the district have learned to respect the Yoemen for their ability and for their fine attitude they display on the field.

The more games the Yoemen can win during the playoffs will show the strength of district 23-AA. So a lot of team pride and district pride is balancing on the game in Killeen Friday night.

The Yoemen will have their chance to really display what they have dedicated their complete season for. The team was dedicated to bringing Cameron a district title. Now that they have fullfilled that promise the bi-district game will be a chance for the Yoemen to bringing the district, town, school and team the honor of another victory.

Coach Cauley had the following remarks about the game against Rosebud-Lott, "We played as well as we had all season. To say the least we were real happy with the news about the victory by the Elgin Wildcats."

About the game this week Cauley said, "Their offense is real explosive and they play their defenses real tough. They have real fine talent. Their quarterback is similar to the Westlake quarterback in that he can pass but likes to run. They have some of the finest backs in the state and we must stop their running game. Defensively they have a real fine secondary that was credited with 4 interceptions against Llano. They ran one of those back for a touchdown."

I hope everyone will travel to Killeen to watch the Yoemen blitz the Bulldogs of Burnet. The game time is set for 8 in Killeen.

Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

ANOTHER MATSON?

Suppose you noticed that Darrell Royal told writers Frosh UT Fullback Earl Campbell is as talented an athlete as he's ever coached? Well, one inside close to the Texas scene the past 40 years says unequivocably: "Campbell, in my opinion, is the most talented football player ever to wear a University of Texas uniform."

The 6-2, 224-pound Tyler Rose has ripped SWC defenses as a ballcarrier, blocked punts from defensive middle-guard, and played exceptionally at middle-linebacker against Baylor.

Campbell is probably the single most spectacular athlete in the Southwest Conference since the Aggies signed Shot-putter - basketball player Randy Matson out of Plainview in the middle-sixties. Like Big Randy, Campbell seems not only to have that all-encompassing athletic ability but also the controlled emotions necessary to use it effectively.

RANDY PRECOCIOUS, TOO!

You remember the 6-6, 260-pound Matson stepped right onto the Aggie campus and began shoving the 16-pound shot past 60 feet, an incredible feat for an 18-year old in those days. Before he was through, Randy had set a world record of over 70 feet, had taken the Olympics apart, had played one year of great Aggie basketball and had Pro football scouts demanding he come for a tryout. Nobody ever defeated him as a collegian.

When a Texas A&M senior, Matson strolled before the stands at UT's Memorial Stadium as the Aggies warmed up for a track meet. "There goes the greatest athlete, and the nicest young man I ever met," said University of Texas Assistant Athletic Director Bill Ellington, pointing to Matson.

Ellington had attempted to recruit Randy for UT.

Brutal fact is, few prospective super athletes - those who can truly do most things better than their peers - really turn out that overpowering in college.

Many of them make it and well. Few are everything they are cracked up to be. they are cracked up to be. Matson was and, it seems, Earl Campbell may well be too.

Carl Brantley, 55, of Lake Jackson and formerly of Cameron, died Thursday in Freeport after a long illness.

Funeral was at 2 p.m. at Green Funeral Home Sunday with the Rev. Thomas Dusek officiating. Burial was in Pebble Grove Cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Letha Fay Brantley, two sons, Jimmy Brantley and Billy Brantley of Lake Jackson; two daughters, Mrs. Lois Vickers of Lake Jackson and Mrs. Joyce Uzzola of Houston; five brothers, J. G. Brantley of Garland, John Brantley of Cameron, Edward Brantley of Houston, Leland Brantley of Dallas, and Bob Brantley of Germany; four sisters, Mrs. Lucille Miller and Mrs. Mildred White, both of Cameron, Mrs. Betty Phipps of Abilene, and Mrs. Sharon Davis of Houston; and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Kelm had lived in Rosebud since 1942. She was a member of the First Lutheran Church and the Missionary Society.

Veterans Released From GI Loans

More than 11,700 veterans and servicemen were released from liability for their GI loans last fiscal year, and the Veterans Administration is urging othes selling houses bought under the GI Bill to request releases when purchasers assume loans on home bought with GI loans, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, said.

The VA issued 9,270 releases in fiscal year 1973, and has given 57,300 over the years. The GI loan program was established shortly after World War II.

"There's a good reason for obtaining a release," Coker explained, "since without it, the seller could be held financially liable should the purchaser default on mortgage payment."

Jesse J. Martin, 76, of Cameron, died Saturday in a Rosebud hospital after a short illness.

Funeral was at 3 p.m. Monday at Marek-Burns-Laywell Funeral Home with the Rev. Ernest Helsley and the Rev. Earl B. Wiggins officiating. Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Baptists Set Attendance Record

A record 614,000 Texas Southern Baptists attended Sunday School last Sunday.

A first High Attendance Day Goal of 600,000 had been set by the Sunday School Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas for 4,200 Sunday Schools around the state.

"This record high is perhaps the greatest single achievement in the history of the Sunday School program," said Dr. John Sisemore, director of the Texas Baptist Sunday School Division.

He alluded to many larger denominations who are experiencing plummeting attendance in their Sunday morning programs.

This was the first statewide attempt at a large scale attendance promotion, says Dr. Sisemore.

The weekly average attendance for the two-million-member state convention was 518,000 during 1973.

"This is more significant than just numbers," says Dr. James H. Landes, Texas Baptist executive secretary. "In a day when our nation's problems are ever-mounting, people are feeling a need to reclaim the basics of faith, God and Church. We can't do less than to reach out as never before."

Highway Structure Wins Award

A structure that combines both a roadway crossing for Austin's MoPac Expressway (Loop 1) and a hike and bike bridge has won a national environmental award.

Texas Highway Department officials have been informed that the structure received a second place in judging for the U. S. Secretary of Transportation's "Highway and Its Environment" Awards competition.

The bridge was entered in a category for the outstanding example of multiple use of highway right of way in urban or rural areas.

The hike and bike bridge spans Town Lake under the roadway crossing. It provides a link to the City of Austin's hike and bike trail system on the landscaped north shore of the lake with similar trails and Zilker Park on the south shore.

The fascinating window

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

It wasn't much as stained glass windows go. But for me it held a strange fascination.

I guess it was the letters that puzzled me. The first was obviously "A". The second was trying to be "Q" or possibly "O" but didn't quite make it. And if the book portrayed were the Bible—why not put something on its pages that made sense?

It was Grandma who explained it simply. The New Testament was originally written in Greek. In the Greek alphabet, Alpha, like our letter "A," was the first letter, Omega the last. For centuries Christians have treasured these two letters as a symbol of God who said in Scripture:

"I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending . . ."

That sums up why the Bible, revealing to men God's truth, is the first and last word in daily reading.

Corn Makes More Food
Corn is the nation's No. 1 feed ingredient for producing meat, milk, and eggs.

Farm Output Varied
More than 150 different farm products come from less than 3 million farms in the United States.

Sheep Population Drop
Since the first U.S. sheep census was taken in 1867, sheep numbers have decreased by 28 million head.

Who's Hair?
The camel gets the credit, but so-called "camel's hair" paintbrushes used by artists are most likely to be made from the inner-ear hair of beef cattle.

The Gold Rush Twins
What do nectarines and cotton blue jeans have in common? They were both introduced in California during the Gold Rush days.

First Insecticide Use
The first systematic effort to control insects in this country began in about 1865 when Paris green was used to destroy the Colorado potato beetle.

Not Even Half A Loaf
All the farm ingredients that go into a pound loaf of bread—including wheat, lard, shortening, sugar, and dried milk—account for only one-fifth of its cost.

Prolific Scientist
George Washington Carver, noted Negro scientist, developed more than 118 products from the sweet potato and over 300 from the peanut.
